The Confederate Cavalryman. IN OIL PORTRAIT OF MAJOR-GENERAL J. E. B. STUART PRESENTED TO THE STATE OF VIR-GINIA-GOVERNOR KEMPER'S LETTER OF AC-CEPTANCE.

General Fitzhugh Lee, representing a number of gentlemen, has presented to the State of Virginia a portrait of the gallant Confederate cavalryman, Major-General J. E. B. Stuart. The following is General Lee's presentation letter and Governor Kemper's note of welcome and acceptance: RICHLAND, STAFFORD COUNTY, VA., }

General Stuart was born in the county of Patrick. He graduated at the United States Military Academy at West Point in 1854, and served for seven years as a lieutenant of cavalry in the United States army. When of May, 1864, whilst the historic Army of lines of Spotsylvania Courthouse, the cavalry corps of the enemy, consisting of three divisions of three brigades each—the former being commanded by Torbert, Gregg, and CACHEMIRES, BOMBAZINES, CRAPE Wilson, and the whole by Sheridan—marched past its right flank, going in the direction of the then Virginia Central railroad, and having, if possible, Richmond as its objective point. This force amounted to some ten thousand mounted men and six batteries of regular artillery, and, to use the language employed by its commander in his official report, "the three divisions" marching "on the same road" made a "column of about thirteen miles in length." A brigade of North Carolina cavalry, un-der the gallant General Gordon, was ordered to harass the rear of this corps, whilst Lomax's and Wickham's brigades, of my division, marching with greater rapidity by another road, were thrown across his route place between my seven regiments-aggregating about 2,500 troopers-and this large fell, mortally wounded, upon the 11th of remains true to her past traditions, and justly values the qualities that elevate man an organic disease. among his fellows, chivalry, heroism, valor, and devotion, so long will the memory of the great cavalryman be held inviolable and his picture be prized by generations of her | night and gave them many valuable sugges-

McCormick, much soberer than on Wednesday, stated positively that he was struck by Giblin with a club-but that he had no desire to prosecute Giblin, and that his contrary statement was made heretofore with the view of shielding Giblin. It appears that there had been a disturbance in Giblin's house between Giblin and McCormick, but whether McCormick had a fall (he was very drunk) or was struck could not be positively ascertained. Several witnesses being absent the case was continued till Monday. Giblin was admitted to ball in $700, with Michael Burns and J. M. Pace sureties. McCormick, in default of security to appear as a witness, was committed. The cases of McCormick against James Giblin and Moses Shields, for assaults, were continued till same day. Mr. Shields did not come into court till after the cases were thus disposed of. His statements were of such a character as to show that he was a very important witness, and he was required to appearance in that capacity; failing to give he was sent to jail.

In 1873 he was principally instrumental in the establishment of Fairmount Female College, a flourishing institution of Tennessee; and he is now devoting the proceeds of his lectures to aid a collegiate and normal institute in Union county, Tennessee. We have said this much that our people may know who is amongst them, and that in attending his lecture they will not only be en-tertained and edified, but be contributing

> THE GERMAN AT FORD'S HOTEL. - On Wednesday evening a number of young gentlemen gave a German at Ford's Hotel, the use of which had been generously tendered them by young Mr. John Ford. He was the host of the occasion, and entertained his guests in handsome style. The affair was given in honor of a charming young Portsmouth belle who is now staying in the city, and proved most enjoyable to all concerned. The spacious dining-room was thrown open-one half of which was devoted to the dance, the remainder being used as a supper-room. The first part of the evening was given up to square and round dances. Then followed the supper; and the repast, sumptuous in itself, was rendered doubly enticing by the polite and never-flagging attentions of mine host and corps of attaches. After supper the German was danced, and was led by Mr. Joseph Smith. This was kept up until 2 o'clock, when the notes of "Home, Sweet Home" admonished the revellers that the dance was their mite to a noble work.

ENTERTAINMENT IN TRINITY CHURCH LECTURE-ROOM.—On Monday and Tuesday nights next Dr. W. H. Taylor will give his charming art-entertainment and descriptive address in the lecture-room of Trinity Methodist church, the proceeds to be de-voted to the church. Of course there will give security in the sum of $1,000 for his be an entire change of programme each evening. The splendid apparatus and beautiful pictures which has ebeen collect. by the Doctor with great care and heavy expense are now in splendid working order, and on the nights of the entertainment the Doctor will superintend the lanterns in person. The object is a worthy one, and will doubtless be liberally patronized. BRITISH POET. - Martin Farquhar Tupper, the author of Proverbial Philosopher, Hac temus, The Crock of Gold, Raleigh, Washington, and other poems, novels, and plays, will appear on Monday the 22d instant be-fore the Richmond public, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Tupper has received many titles as a man of learning, and distinguished favors from Queen Victoria herself, who, as Mr. Tupper states, seriously considered his claims to the Laureateship when Tennyson was appointed to that position. The programme, as advertised, consists of the choicest selection from the poems, dramas, &c., of his works.
